S. W. Woodward Gives National Museum Reproduction of One of Oldest Maps

An interesting and unique map in the form of a mosaic has been added to the extensive collection of the National Museum. It is said by experts to be one of the oldest maps in exist-

The exhibit is a reduced reproduction in colors of a mossic may of Palestine and part of Egypt and was presented to the museum by S. W. Woodward, of this city. The original from which the map was reproduced, formed the floor of an old church in Medeba, a town in the former territory of Mosb situated almost directly east of Bethlehem. It often is mentioned in the Old Testament.

The mosaic, which dates from the sixth century A. D., according to museum officials, was discovered in 1862, when the ruins of the old church ward the north. Under this arrangement places and legends are placed on the west line. Cities and towns are represented by buildings, sometimes surrounded by palm trees.

The drawing shows the Jordan as a comparatively broad stream which falls acred to Shoth, the Hermes of the Egypinto the Deead Sea. This body of water is agitated by currents represented by thick black smoke.

Two bridges connect the banks of the Jordan, while two vessels are painted on which a mummy had been wrapped.

Mr. Woodward also has presented to the museum a case containing a collection of Egyptian antiquities which has presented to the museum a case containing a collection of Egyptian antiquities which he acquired in Jerusalem. It includes a lime store funerary stele, or tablet, of Nebussians of the Egyptian history, and the Egyptian blood of the Egyptian history, and mummy cloth in White and Secretary by a threat of public protest, reckoned without the host. White House Answers Threat by Making Peace Council Correspondence Public.

HOT SHAFTS EXCHANGED

Tumulty's Refusal to Arrange Audience with Wilson Starts Verbal Duel.

Buchanan intimates in his letter, as he has in his public statements, that his council represents organized labor, but it already has been repudiated by Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor. Two of Buchanan's associates who thus assume to speak "for labor" are Herman Schulteis and Henry B. Martin, who figured with David Lamar, the "wolf" of Wall Street, in the so-called Anti-Trust League.

that so long as they, the people whom I serve, continue to be united in their belief that progress and prosperity is dependent upon religious observance of the Scriptural admonition, And they of the Scriptural admonition, 'And they shall beat their swords into plough shares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more,' just so long shall I continue to rap at the door of the President's private chambers to secure admittance for a delegation of workers, who not only desire peace at home but peace abroad as well.

tive and friend of Mr. Bryan wrote sharpiy to Secretary Tumulty, making complaint and suggesting that he might make a public statement on the refusal of the President to see his delegation. The Buchanan letter given out at the White House was as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Tumulty: Your first the statement of the President my desire for a conference, and inform him that if I am to be denied the courtesy so liberally extended to Congressmen speaking for Big Business I shall be reluct.

"Very truly yours, "FRANK BUCHANAN."

Tumulty Closes Correspondence. The correspondence was closed by the following brief but pointed note

"J. P. TUMULTY."
